Hiring Manager
Hiring Team

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the data analyst position. My background combines hands-on project experience with React, Next.js, TypeScript, and I am eager to bring that blend of curiosity and ownership to your team.

What I offer maps directly to what you are hiring for. My recent work maps directly to the core of this role: Worked with the engineering team on a React + TypeScript admin dashboard. Design and deliver the GraphQL-backed service layer the product needed. Modeled the data, built the GraphQL endpoints, and hardened them with tests and proper error handling. Shipped on schedule and cut rework measurably in the following release.

Beyond the matched keywords, I understand the role calls for GraphQL, Redis, clear communication, ownership. I close gaps fast: I learn in public, ship in small reviewable increments, and ask sharp questions early — habits that have served me well in every project and internship so far.

I would welcome the chance to discuss how my experience can contribute to your team's goals. Thank you for your time and consideration — I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Priya Sharma
